EPM PODCAST 04 – GUS BROWN (MIXTAPE RECORDS)

Following on from the Detroit Grand Pubahs' Mysterious Mr. O, Detroit's DJ Nasty and Motech man DJ 3000's podcasts we keep the quality flying high as we welcome Mixtape's Gus Brown to take up the baton of EPM's podcast series. With a wonderfully building mix that takes in plenty of EPM's digital catalogue and beyond we see the likes of Slam, DJ Assault, Joris Voorn, Marc Romboy, Konrad Black, James Ruskin, The Advent, Len Faki and The Detroit Grand Pubahs all bubble and froth into an effervescent techno and electro journey.

Gus's releases have received support from some of the world's greatest DJ's and producers including Luke Slater, Dave Clarke, Paul Mac, Mark Broom, Technasia, Jon Rundell, Detroit Grand Pubahs, Trevor Rockcliffe, Rolando, Renato Cohen, and Chris Finke to name a few.

Techno first found Gus Brown at nights in the UK's North West, the biggest influence at that time being BuggedOut! at the legendary Nation in Liverpool. Having previously spun progressive house in the clubs, techno began to have an increasing presence in Gus's DJ sets and radio shows.

Back down in London, as well as DJing, Gus began to produce techno and in order to remain in complete control of output, set up Mixtape Records. Bringing together artists with like minded attitudes to techno in the UK, US and Europe, Mixtape has gained a strong reputation for an output of quality, straight up techno.

As well as the huge success of the label, The Mixtape hosted by Gus Brown and broadcast on SSR (tuff.ssradiouk.com) has received massive support from fans - stay tuned for special guests and exclusive tracks.
